

Grants for Graduate Student Conferences and Workshops

The Weatherhead Center for International Affairs is pleased to offer Harvard graduate students financial resources for student conferences and workshops that address their interests in international affairs. Graduate students enrolled in a doctoral program in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences or one of the professional schools may apply for grants for conferences on campus whose topics relate to the interests of the Weatherhead Center. This research focuses on international, transnational, global, and comparative national topics and may address contemporary or historical topics, including rigorous policy analysis as well as the study of countries and regions other than the United States. Grants are generally in the $500-1500 range, but the Center can consider requests for larger amounts. Grants will be administered on a competitive basis. While the Center welcomes all applicants, preference will be given to applications from Weatherhead Center-affiliated graduate students as well as for conferences whose presenters are Harvard graduate students speaking about their own work. All things being equal, conference series that have not previously received a grant from the Center will be given priority.

Application procedure: Interested students should submit a detailed description of the conference (1-2 pages) including its theme(s), goals, and intended audience; a conference agenda; and a budget, along with a completed application cover sheet. (See reverse.)

After the event, grant recipients must submit a brief summary report on the event to the Weatherhead Center.

Questions or applications should be directed to Clare Putnam, Weatherhead Center for International Affairs, 1737 Cambridge Street, Cambridge MA 02138, or e-mail to: cputnam@wcfia.harvard.edu.

We encourage applications by October 1 and February 1, but we will also consider grant proposals on a rolling basis. Applicants who submit applications after February 1 should keep in mind that our pool of funding may be drawn down and therefore limited by that time of the year.

For additional information on the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs, the Center's affiliates, seminars, fellowships, and programs for graduate students, please consult our Web site at <http://www.wcfia.harvard.edu>.

(Please see reverse for application cover sheet.)

Weatherhead Center for International Affairs
Grants for Harvard Graduate Student Conferences

APPLICATION COVER SHEET

Names and Harvard affiliation of conference organizers:

E-mail address (one only, please):

Mailing address (one only):

Title of the proposed event:

Proposed date(s) of the event:

Amount of funding request:

Other sources of funding:

If applicable, your organization or group's tax ID or Employer Identification #:

Faculty advisor(s) for the event:

Please include a copy of this cover sheet with your 1-2 page proposal and a budget.

Applications must be submitted to Clare Putnam, Weatherhead Center for International Affairs, 1737 Cambridge Street, Cambridge MA 02138, or by e-mail: cputnam@wcfia.harvard.edu.

We encourage applications by October 1 and February 1, but we will also consider grant proposals on a rolling basis. Applicants who submit applications after February 1 should keep in mind that our pool of funding may be drawn down and therefore limited by that time of the year.